Soprano Jenny Ribeiro has been called a ‘Swiss army knife of musicians’ for her versatile, varied career. Although she performed many of the leading lyric coloratura/soubrette roles early on, Jenny’s repertoire now includes large lyric and spinto soprano roles. A frequent recitalist and interpreter of new music, Jenny has premiered works for many composers through Vox Novus and others. She also recorded Matt Frey's chamber opera One-Eleven Heavy released by Navona Records. A steadily working solo/ensemble singer in NYC for many years, Jenny is a recent graduate of Michigan State University, where she studied with mentor Marc Embree.
